Representative Lewis Not on Short List for NC Legislative Leadership

According to an article published in the Daily Haymaker a Conservative news publication Rep. David Lewis has not made the list for any leadership roles in the new session.

From the (The Daily Haymaker)

The Republican majority will huddle next weekend to pick leaders for the chamber AND for their caucus. Since they are a majority in the General Assembly's lower chamber, the Republican picks will be quite the big dogs in the upcoming sessions. The candidates to replace Thom Tillis on the speaker's dais have been bandied about cyberspace and the drive-by media. Thanks to some really-inside sources, we have a comprehensive roster of the candidates being considered by the GOP caucus next weekend.
